Company profile

Hoza has been a leading authority in the area of internal logistics for decades. We have managed to develop and maintain a solid presence in the logistical framework of the international postal and banking industries, however we are also on a continuous quest for new business development.

Hoza's core business can be best defined as: developing logistic solutions by focusing on entire logistic processes after which the perfect solution that is most profitable for your business is applied. Providing solutions that offer excellence in economy, ergonomics, sound attenuation and weight savings by the application of structured procedures makes us the better partner.

We are proud to see that many of our solutions have become the logistical standards in their respective markets. During LogiMAT 2012, Hoza will introduce several brand new logistic solutions focused specifically on materials handling.

A prime example is a very innovative roll cage for the post and parcel industry. Hoza developed this concept from the ground up after thorough study of processes at several international parcel companies. It is a totally new type of roll cage with a revolutionary way of nesting (patent pending), consisting of 95% aluminum, closed on 4 sides and fitted with a standard tow-tug construction.

Another brand new product that will be introduced, is a roll cage specifically built for retail (non) food, and the fruit and vegetable industry. The roll cage has a foldable plastic bottom that translates into a unique nesting method (patent pending). Despite being composed of plastic, the hinged bottom is still incredibly strong, lightweight and fully recyclable.
